Foot Notes

What are footnotes? They are that familiar shuffle, that pitter-patter up the stairs and down the ramps; that wave of energy and color that floods the halls between bells. Footnotes are our steps, our tracks, our mark on Masco. They are more than our footprints, they are who we are and how we are feeling. Whether they be high heeled or rubber soled, they take us where we've got to go.

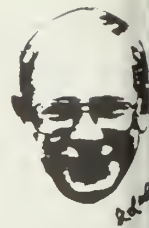

Our feet have stuck with us through all of lifes little puddles - moonboots, jellies and all. They have told the world just how tasteful or distasteful we can be. They have helped us develop our own distinction and style through good moods and bad moods. When people have doubted our direction they have glanced at our toes, whose atttire truly tells all.

And so our feet have literally carried us through all our days here at Masco - even those we thought would never end. They have trodden over every tile and seen most every corner, being closer to this single building than any other body part. Now it has been almost six years for many of us and even our feet are a bit bored. Their direction may be set on new horizons; and so our feet will carry us on to our last days here at Masco. We will hear the pitter-patter soften as we take our final walk, capped and robed in red and white alike, as a sea of oneness. But, from under the gowns our shoes will smile. They will let it be known that, though, for a moment, we may all look the same, once the caps are tossed and robes lifted, our feet will be sure to carry us in very different directions once we pass over that threshold for the last time.

DEDICATION

Following the Footsteps of Mr. Lowe

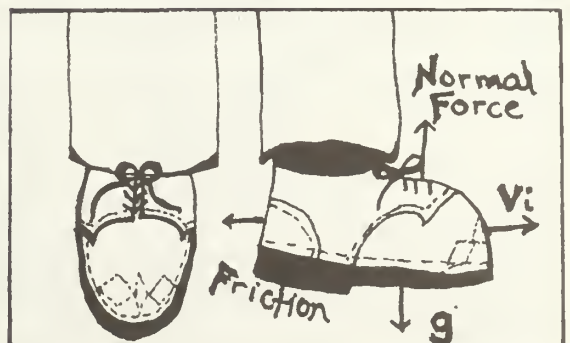

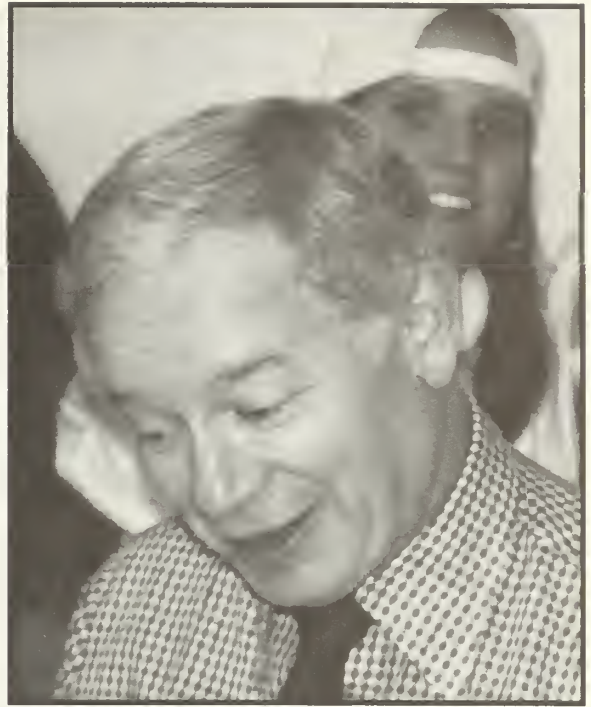

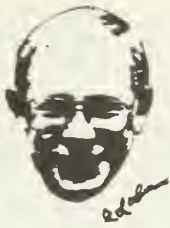

If you follow the footsteps of Mr. John Lawrence Lowe, you will discover that they are found throughout the hallways of Masconomet. Most of his footsteps center around B-109, where Masco seniors get their "hands dirty" with physics. With labs such as "The Masco 500" or "Ohm, Ohm on the Range," Mr. Lowe gives students the chance to understand the concepts and lessen the difficulty of the subject. His footsteps can also be found around his electronic gadgets, like his mega stopclock suspended on the wall, where he proudly shows its uses to his awed students. Next, Mr. Lowe's footsteps are found making frequent trips to the Xerox machine, where he copies cherished prizes that a few privileged Masco students will attain from the "Question of the Day": their own autographed copy of Mr. Lowe's face. Mr. Lowe makes every effort to fulfill the promise that he had emblazoned on the cherry red pencils that students received on the first day, "MASCO FYZICS IS PHUN."

Besides teaching, his involvement in the Masconomet Science Department is widespread. His shoes led him to co-organize the Annual Masconomet Science Fair and to "develop a unique physics curriculum based on microcomputers," according to Dr. Kellogg, Science Department head. In the field of Science, his footsteps are not limited to the boundaries of the school: they travel to teach other physics teachers how to incorporate labs into the curriculum, to head workshops at the regional level and to attend national conventions.

Mr. Lowe's footsteps can also be found mingling with sweaty sneaker prints in the Athletic Department. His organizational abilities enable him to effectively systematize and distribute the athletic equipment and the red and white uniforms of Masconomet.

Mr. Lowe's countless footsteps are permanently marked upon Masconomet, its students, and the outside community. According to Dr. Kellogg, Mr. Lowe is "methodical, well organized, analytical, fair and dedicated." It is because of his dedication to the science of physics and to Masconomet that we hereby dedicate the 1995 MITOBO Yearbook to Mr. John Lawrence Lowe.

THE RETIREMENT OF DR. DUSSAULT

As His Shoes Walk Away from the Desk...

As Dr. Richard Dussault packs away his administrative shoes and slips on his retirement ones, Masconomet will painfully watch him go. After 29 years of being fully dedicated to the school, Dr. Dussault will be remembered as one who spent a great deal of time and energy towards making Masconomet such a distinguished school.

In 1966, Dr. Dussault came to Masco wearing his brand-new teaching shoes to teach accounting. He was soon appointed the chairman of the Business Department. After being widely encouraged to try for the position of principal after just one year at Masco, Dr. Dussault soon slipped on the shoes of one of the house principals. Later on, he became part of the administrative staff, coordinating Masco's curriculum. Then he took on the position of head principal. After nearly a decade, Dr. Dussault was appointed the assistant superintendent. Later on, he became the Superintendent of Masconomet. With his background in financial matters, Dr. Dussault became well known for his expertise in fiscal affairs. According to Mrs. Judy Gallerie, a member of the School Committee, "Dr. Dussault's strongest asset to Masco was knowing the budget really well. No one else compares to him." Not only could he manage the budget, but he also had a special gift of dealing successfully with personal relationships. "Dr. Dussault did a lot of healing and brought the faculty back together, especially after RenPro," stated Mrs. Pamela Hieber, a longtime member of the School Committee.

"There is not another person that knows the school as well as he knows it. I do not honestly know how we're going to replace him," explained Mrs. Hieber. The superintendent shoes fit Dr. Dussault well. But Dr. Dussault's concerns were not confined to the little, red brick building where he worked. He has always been seen at many of Masco's athletic events and other activities. As a member of the Tri-Town community he is highly respected and well-liked by his fellow citizens. As for the future, Dr. Dussault will probably be slipping on his golf shoes. It is with this that Masconomet deeply thanks Dr. Dussault for his faithful years of service and excellence and wishes him many happy rounds on the golf course and a most fulfilling future. It is the least he deserves.

SENIORS

Your shoes are comfortable and well broken-in now. They have carried you through four memorable years at Masconomet, but the journey is almost done. With just a few last steps through graduation, the pitter-patter of your feet in the halls will be but echoes from the past. It is time to put on a new pair of shoes, but never get rid of your old ones for good. Good Luck, and may your feet carry you out into the world and help you stand tall in all you do.

KR, KK, KS, JW, SB, LD, and everyone else. I couldn't of done it without you guys! I'll never forget all the fun times and strange conversations that we've had together. there is so much to say...snky 1,2,and 3 will live forever, I'll never pass a D&D without thinking of all of you, your the best friends anyone could ever have. We just have to remember, don't meet strange guys at D&D. KS whats that on the side of your car? KK I guess its time to put these wet clothes in the dryer and go to bed. Oh baby...you guys know the rest. Never forget that people and things will change but friends are there forever! ILYG!

Thanks for the great times! Mom and Dad, thanks,
 I love you! Pauline

Life is full of so many uncertainties. Danielle we have been through good times and bad. Thanx 4 always being there 4 me when I've needed a best friend. Wee Willy Wonka, Jump n Ju Willy remember Pepsi, and those times in Melrose and Cruising in the "White Probe". We have had some close calls. Sarah remember the Ice cream. Thanx Mom and Dad Love ya, Thanx Mr. and Mrs. C for everything. Jolen don't leave me hangin. Michelle Thanx 4 being a great sister and 4 being there 4 me. Danni Keri, Jolen + Pauline - over the last few years, we've become closer friends. You were all there for me when I needed someone to talk to thank you. One word of advice - never drive down the highway, listening to good songs, speeding, then I know something out of the window, who your seatbelt on! C.J. - Through all the "disputes" we've managed somehow to stay friends. Never forget - O mass BART MOUTH!! Ali + Mike - though Bob's was a bore, we managed to become great friends. Thanks for listening to all my problems. I'll see ya in college!!

During my years at Masconomet I have rendered hard and tough times but there were also the fun times. I will never forget the many runs with Doliber and the times skipping school with Aaron and Doug. I have made many friends, also I have had my share of enemy's. Thank to my Mom and Dad and the rest of my family. Peace to Shawn, Doug, Aaron, Mark, and everyone else. Good luck. I did it, I am finally out! Peace!

Hi,

In trying not to sound pretentious, i refuse to list all the sports i've played, activities i've done, and i won't even try to list everybody's initials that i know with an inside joke next to them. Here, for eternity i will only list those whom without i wouldn't have made it through high school; Timmy, Mo, Julie, Amber, Karoline, Kelly F., Todd, Matt, Emma, Claudia, my family, my Rhode Island crew, my RISD crew, scruffy, charlotte, hera, and last but certainly not least, Ms.
Haas, who will never really know how much she helped me.

To all those i've forgotten and everybody i haven't i love you all,

* LOVE LIVING *

I am a tree, high on a hill, looking down at the world below.

From my limbs hang children finding joy & peace in my limbs lacking the knowledge to run away.

The animals, they are my friends they listen and include me even though I am different.

It's so hard to sum up four years in a little box but I'll give it a try. Thank you to all those; you know who you are, who have made me laugh, helped me out in time of need, and given me support throughout these last four years. I couldn't have made it so easily without you. Hopefully I've given more than I've taken, though, and that others will follow that philosophy throughout life. Good luck to the class of '85 in college and later on in life. Good luck to future students at Masco as well. Hopefully you won't need it. I hope to see everyone ten years from now, and that everyone is satisfied with the path they have taken.

I'm losing ground. I know this world can beat you down. I'm made of clay. I fear I am the only one who thinks this way. I am always falling down the same hill. I stay inside my bed. I have thought up so much in my head. No one extends their hands to those who know what it really feels like, to those who have a taste. Like this means something. Maybe I don't have a choice and maybe this is all I have. I do not want this. I want to do something that matters.

I want to know everything. I want to be everywhere. I want to be someone. mom and dad

GREETINGS,

Most of you never took the time to talk to me & get to know me. You just judged me. But now I realize that I'm glad you didn't, because you're just a bunch of followers. Oh well, have a good life. Thanks to all of you who have stuck by me & helped me along the way. Thanks Buck, will you miss me next year? I still miss you Mark, but have fun snowboarding. It's been real, but now it's over. Time has flown by, but I have no regrets-(well..maybe a few). Its weird to think that in a year we will be walking down the hall of new places surrounded by all new faces, I guess it is a reality- but a harsh one. Yet, 20 years from now, I will look back and smile, for these truly are the days to remember.. it was a blast while it lasted-too bad it had to end.

Elleeb-(aka cow,lucy....) You crazy Iraqi fool-I swear I had a brain before I knew you-where'd it go?? Shut up you stupid...? Pious(JCame)- Comerbuik? We b illegal! Court-(aka Digit) SHE??? Lyee- Friends? I don't think I could live without knowing a crazy water drinking switch hitting polieh keeper princess who thinks she's irish! ☺

Caite-Shotgun! p.e-chill out! heart attacks at 18 aren't normal-(I don't think!) ☺

Mao-My crazy FDA passing partner-you truly are the devil-But I love it! ☺

Whale-what can I say...so beech yourself! N.Y.-"Oh dear"-you little freak-keep smilin' my "closest" buddy & don't change (not even for your girlfriend.) ☺ Hill-my advice to you-don't get arrested Blairie-my neighbor where are my barbies?Band reunion? To those I forgot-I'm sorry but it is a really small box and I am wicked slow so forgive me. Soccer (#1) B.D.,Noonie, Breezy,KC,Dorkies...(and the rest of the ace crowd).LIKE A GLOVE!. To the fam-TT&JJ-we have been through some tough times, but it only made the bond stronger.I love you both more than you will ever know-Jac-daddy-beeth-lisa-j&von-john:I love you all!!

Jamie Hokanson

Angie: UWA forever! Don't forget Phil (what made him come to us?), or Bill for that matter. You're the best friend-Thanks! Thanks to all my friends: Suejin, Ellen-Is something burning besides zinc in here?, Sally, Meghan-I'll see you at Gordon, Donna, Kirsten, Joreen, Leah, Shannon (HEE HEE HEE!). Thanks Mom, Dad, Jennifer, (Missy)-I love you guys!

For All my friends: Melis, I think I'll miss you most of all. Shawnap, Meg Tufts, Mel Rizzo, Jen Wilkenson, Selena Leavitt, Rachael Arvila, and McMillan, Annmarie, McKenzie, C. Veski, Stacky (swok), Sue Bobuc, Ian Baby, Mike Helm, James Broadnax, Shawnadagle, Jess T. Cock, Scott Thomas, Ambie, Athena, Lola, and Aric. I owe you all so much So many good times, so many laughs I'll never be able to replace. Sometimes moving brings good friends even closer and new friends in your path. You all mean so much to me and I love you all. I wish every single one good luck "live long + prosper" I hope I catch on someday to this hilarious joke of life and one day be able to share the punch line. But till then I'll listen to my call and one day I will answer it.

's that time. Time to move on and get ready for the real world. First to the most imp. person in my life, Ricky: You've made me laugh and cry but through it all I love you! Hey, yes I am!", "goopy" and "it hurts". Oh yeah eternity, drakkar, cool water and googoo plex. But, "I'm the lucky one". FYG! Don't forget. Hey Kerri, "Watch out for my car!" and the endless driving around! Thanks for always listening, can't forget Pinecone st. Hey Pauleny weenie! LisaLisa! You guys were always crazy and weird. I don't have siblings but to Julie and amie you guys come pretty close. Julie, good luck, work hard like you always do. "kiss mine tiga" Oh and KJ! You always made me laugh with your stories and cheered me up, thanks! Jamie, good luck at college. You always were an older sister to me don't change! I'll miss your whines. To the 'G good luck all of you! I love you guys! Stay strong! Last but definitely not least mom and dad thank you for everything! You guys always worked hard and put up with me, I love you guys so much, thanks. Good luck everyone, see ya!

...line four years is a long time. I couldn't have done it without you. B and B, ice coffee, a couple of butts good conversation... what a life! Don't know what you mean we aren't suppose to win in our clothes at 1 a.m. "There's spinach an?" Kerri "Oh baby, you don't know how bad I want you right now" Sneaky's beachin' it. Mr. Winky and Urney... I know where your nail went. MAINE: Sarah green buckle up and Kerri watch those cinnabursts! Green Bay, Donna---lost in Boston (in style) think negative... oops! and to think it all began with a token key. Oh, Kerri you watch the wall. ILY 4life seven... I don't know where to begin. It was rough from the start but worth every minute. You showed me what love is. Our memories will live forever in my heart. I will love you always! Teri... we've been friends for a long time. We'll always have each other. Thank you for everything. ILY Mom and Dad... I don't know how you survived these past years. Thank you for all your love and support. I Love You! Many... thank you for everything. Sorry about the car. You're the greatest. I Love You! Sarah... your almost there. Hang in. I Love You! B.J., A.B., E.W., we will always have the bathroom. Missy my musketeer. Meredith you're the best. Alicia we had fun. M.G. better than you know who. Cruisin before Driver-Ed. Listen we have to be more careful with those blinds. My prediction: Pauline you will marry Tim! Macco: It's been real. After all reality isn't all that great. Dan I will miss you the most. Doug... thanks for the shoulder to cry on! Brendan you're true friend... The world is wide and anything... anything can happen! "Good-bye everyone! Krissy

Wow! It is almost over and I ain't learned much! Don't remember much so it must o' been good. Dave & Jon remeber England 93' & 95?(If you can) Casey do you remeber anything. Hey BC, how's the ankle? Thanks again Mr. Doliber and Coach Puleo. Hey matmen, let's win it this year. Keri, I'll always be better in Math and English. Hey Al & Dunc, look out for the funder in Norf Andover. Where to begin...How do they expect us to fit all our little thoughts in this teensy little square? Remember back to when we were fr̄eshm̄an and getting a ride home from a senior was cool! Dale- stop studying so hard! You're making the rest of us look bad. Leigh- You are really cool. I'm glad you went to my school. In track, you were the best, in art above the rest. We pet the puppies in Gavron's class. That was a hoot, it kicked my *#!. Aim-Lōc- You have one really sexy brother. Y.G. wouldn't have been the same w/o your zany antics. Allison- J. T. was the best! Don't forget the words of one great philosopher, "Think in here, not out there." A.C.- Sorry about your sweatshirt. Christine, Wacko, Bladderless- Thanx for being the bestest friend in the universe! We've gone through so much together...Steve Miller- eek!, Virginia, Dartmouth, Wheaton, the ropeswing, the bridge, Lolapalooza...Stay out of trouble, you crazy kid! I don't believe you wet you pants!! Greg- How's PETER!!! NORM!!! B- Thanx for all the great advice. This summer will be nifty! ILU and all your crazy antics. Thanx Mom, Dad, Liz, Allie, Blarney and Cuddles. I miss you Sunny and Cloudy!! Good luck next year Allison.

This is not the end, it is just the beginning. J.W.-We've been through alot, H.B., Prom 74, Hampton and everything that goes with those. Never forget- Take me home! He is so cute! Olympics and french fries and ugly girls with cute guys. K.L.-I'll always remember Françias avec Mr.G, Qu'est-ce qui se passe? Ne fumez pas et Ah oui! You can't forget Wednesday nights w/ Joe E. Tata, J.H. Jr. stories, modified track workouts, and x-country. Thanks for being there, good luck! A.P. and J.H.-I'll never forget, 10th grade Project Advent., going to the movies. I wasn't scared, and to Friday's and all the great lunch time conversations we had Junior year, I'll always look back and laugh. E.G.-Keep on sporking houses etc. and let's go dancing! C.L.-Remember me when you're famous and I'll remember you. HRoom would have been boring w/out you and I don't think that I will ever be able to say the Pledge again w/out laughing and good luck w/ Chuck E Cheese. K.M.(A.K.A. K.G.)-Indoor track was the best! "These pretzels are making me thirsty and your chicken tastes like wood!" C.C.-D.C. is mine and don't you forget it! M.L.-Need a ride? When my car has problems, I'll know why. We shared many laughs, don't change. Lynn -You are my little, big sister, thanks for being there and Bummer of a Birthmark Hall! Thanks again to all my friends for being there for me when I've needed them and thanks Mom and Dad, Gluck Lynn and Mike, I love you. Marsha! Marsha! Marsha! Donna

We have been waiting for this year for a long time. The freedom, the power, and now that we have it there's a part of me that doesn't want it to end. We will go our separate ways after June, we may not see each other ever again, but just remember that it was fun. and we had some good times. As we go on with our, "lives after MASCO", I just wanted to say thanks, for everything. JR SM MR DG CR JF YW MH, And anyone else I have left out, you're the reason why I've survived these four years. To all the teachers I have had thank you as well, I've learned much and you will be remembered. Mom, Dad, Reed, Shawna, and Mike I love you all and look forward to what lays ahead. 9/10/94 We'll see what happens!

Aileen - Thankyou for everything you have been the constant, the last year or so that has always kept a smile on my face. Thankyou for caring for me when noone else wanted to. You've proven you a true friend, and I love you for it. OH, yeah, I'm the lucky one. Love ya.

Friends - Jake, Jeff, we had some good times together. "Hey get your own tree." You two are my closest friends, please let have some more good times. Chuck, thanks for helping me out, you're a great friend. Mr. Deliber, Thank for believing in me, and thank for listening.

Family - I love all of you very much. Tim, you've always kept a smile on my face. Sue and Deb, thank for caring, love you guys. Mark, miss you alot, but will always live up to you and love you. Mom and Dad, times were rough, but through it all, I still love you and always will. Thank for everything.

Thanks to all my friends who made the Masco "experience" a little less like HELL on Earth!

'It is not the critic who counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better.

The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause; who, at best, knows in the end the triumph of high achievement; and who, at worst, if he fails, at least fails daring greatly so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.'

-Theodore Roosevelt

a note to the reader...

Let's pretend, for a moment, that people never grew-up. Children were forever dependent upon their parents to make decisions for them. Every morning a society of perennial infants could be seen having their outfits for the day picked by Mom. When mealtime rolled around, Dad could be seen spitting on a Kleenex and wiping faces. Velcro would be the most popular choice for fastening shoes; how could the children be expected to learn to tie their shoes?

Okay, it does seem a ridiculous and impossible scenario. But can you imagine if your parents still treated you like an infant? Would you accept that without a fight?

The people we have become are our solutions to the problem of growing up. Obviously, although there are no right answers, some solutions outshine others. But if our parents had not let us try out life for ourselves, we would never have gone anywhere. Whose job is really harder? Our's - facing the world? Or our parents' - letting us do it?

It is hard to let go of an experiment after eighteen years. Some parents just cannot do it. Sure they stop cleaning their kids' faces with spit, and they let them stay out past midnight on Friday night. Maybe even let them spend a weekend or two home alone. But they never let them really grow up, because they never let them raise their voices to the world.

In the long run, it doesn't matter what kind of shoes you wear today. Tomorrow's children will not care. The lasting impression that you leave lies in what you say. It lies in how you view the world and in how you express that view.

Bear in mind, while reading the following list, that some people had trouble letting us go. They wouldn't let us wear plaid and polka dots together. Maybe they're right. Maybe they spared a lot of hurt feelings and embarrassment by censoring us. Maybe.

Just remember when you read these superlatives twenty years from now that they aren't what you thought; they have had the administrative Kleenex wiped across them. Remember what you were really like, whether or not you are proud of it (in any case, you were probably a lot more interesting than these superlatives). And remember, even though you may have become a parent, that you were once a child. Remember how you felt when your voice was silenced. And then, when your kid wants to wear those nasty looking shoes, remember that you once had to be set free to find your own way. All by yourself.

 BECAUSE OUR MOMS LET US.  * *

O.K. We did it. We're Seniors. We have completed the infamous high school experience. There were some pretty memorable moments, good and bad, in our lives and others. This is it, a rewind from the day we officially became Seniors - June 10, 1994.

Well, it was one wierd year folks. Punk ands became mainstream, O.J. Simpson's trial began, Michael Jackson got married (vw...) and the Pope wrote a Bestseller. and we thought all we'd have to worry about would be passing our college applications in on time, not so. There were plenty of Kodak moments and plenty of significant others. So here we go, for the not-so-fantastic voyage through the past.

KODAK MOMENTS IN ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

The Twisted World of Arts & Entertainment

Another mandatory Hollywood year, they never disappoint. The quest for money, fame and power is almost laughable as we look and see who actually made the money this year (How much more do the Rolling Stones need and what was the deal with the Eagles reunion?).

- Woodstock II opened with a bang - over 300,000 people showed up for mud and $12 pizzas.
- Greenday became mainstream (Dookie was their first album, right?)
- Pope John Paul II gets six million dollars for his book deal. He is also the Time Man of the Year.
- Tony Bennet becomes cool again.
- Michael Jackson and Lisa Marie Presley tie the knot.
- Move producer Quentin Tarantino becomes cooler.
- Pearl Jam releases third album and Bon Jovi tries to make another comeback.
- Cindy Crawford and Richard Gere separate, making 90% of the male population very happy.
- "Far Side" cartoonist Gary Larson retires.

MAJOR SPORTS HAPPENINGS

What a year - the Curse of the Bambino continued to haunt Red Sox Nation and will forever, despite the hard fans who will always be at Fenway Park, be stashed with pennant fever on Opening Day.

The elongated baseball strike haunts the nation, as a resolution is nowhere in sight.

World Cup Soccer was here. There was actually a culture the U.S. could handle.

George Foreman makes a comeback - not just as a spokesperson for hot dogs - as he knocks out heavyweight champ Michael Moorer.

The Patriots make it to the playoffs and San Francisco wins the Superbowl.

The hockey strike gets settled halfway through the season.

Mass Minutemen make it to #1 spot in college basketball.

THE JUNIOR & SENIOR PROM

...for just a moment

Superstitions ran high on this Friday the 13th of May 1994 as people strutted out to the Hillview Country Club for the Prom. Most were steppin' out on the dance floor and bustin' the latest moves. Some, however, had two left feet, so they played the wall. The theme of the night was "For Just A Moment," but the night lasted long enough to dub Sean Mulkerron the King and Athena Mandragouras the Queen. The evening was still young after the dinner and dancing, so promgoers hot-footed it to parties and other events.

HOMECOMING

Romans clad in togas, Egyptian pharaohs, spacey friends from the future, and a stone age family shared the field on this balmy Saturday afternoon. It's not so often that all these different time eras get together and boogie, but when they do it's quite a spectacle, as was the case with this year's Homecoming bonanza. The festivities began Friday night with some lively tunes from Masco's pep band and a high energy performance from the cheerleading squad to get school spirit boiling. Next, the flame was lit and the bonfire set blazing while the captains of each of the sports teams gave speeches to rile up momentum for the next day's competitions. The night closed with loud music and dancing which nearly shook the fieldhouse/discotheque to the ground. All the exuberance worked up Friday night carried over to Saturday's outstanding performances where the football, soccer, field hockey, and volleyball teams all brought home victories.

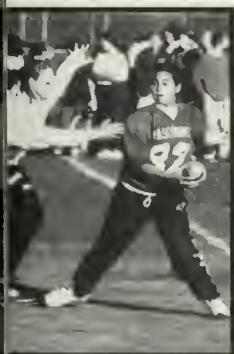

POWDERPUFF

It was a balmy day, perhaps a good day for some friendly football between some junior and senior ladies. Perhaps, but none was to be found on the Masco field that afternoon. These ladies meant business and they were prepared. Okay, so maybe it wasn't that viscious, but it was clear that these ladies didn't look like any powderpuffs seen at the local cosmetic counters as they shoved each other's faces in the dirt.

The game began close, there were a fair number of daring moves and a notorious touchdown by the juniors to get things going. However, maybe they got too cocky too fast because it wasn't long before the senior fighters came back with a field goal and not one, but two touchdowns. The second half was close, but the senior future football Hall of Famers took the Powderpuff Trophy off the field this year. Better luck next year juniors!

HALLOWEEN PARTY

The day was one of the creepiest; the moon shone particularly bright and werewolves could be heard in the distance. The room, which was a cafeteria only hours earlier, became a haven for devils, farm animals, women with facial hair, and other most unsettling sights. Together these cooky beings, who happened to be Masco seniors in disguise, tore up the dance floor as they ushered in Halloween and all the ghosts and goblins that accompany it. Guests who received lots of goodies for looking especially cooky included a herd of cows, a telephone pole, and a couple in which the woman looked a bit more manly than the man. For many it was an experience they haven't had since junior high, but nonetheless, this crazy bunch of seniors did an admirable job paying tribute to the spookiest day of the year, while taking part in the first of the year's senior-only activities.

SENIOR HOLIDAY PARTY

The mistletoe was hung and the garland shimmered as the senior class bedazzled themselves and headed for the annual Holiday Party. This year the crew of festive holiday merry makers travelled to the Village Green in Danvers and the turnout was quite large.

The evening began with some tame munching and conversation, but the true natures of these seniors emerged before long. As soon as the hip DJ got the tunes turning the lions were let out of their cages and the dance floor spilled over while arms waved, bottoms bopped and the air filled with that oh-so festive scent of holiday sweat. Even some of the supposedly reserved teacher chaperones were spotted tearing up the dance floor with some moves uniquely their own.

The night ended with a Christmas tune and many Holiday wishes. Once again the party was a success and there was not a scrooge in sight.

SENIOR FROLICS

Two Nights
No Talent
No Taste
No Tolerance
No Fear

"Art thou bored?!" Have no fear, Masco Frolics is here. Once again the senior class stunned the crowd with its wit, humor and talent. As always Frolics got off to somewhat of a shaky start. But, as always, the senior class got its act together just in time for two knockout shows. The Masco faculty was again the prime target of most of the skits. But it was all in good humor, and there was nothing personal about any of it.

Although the Boys Chorus Line may have stolen the show with its patented "booty-shake," other crowd favorites were Carletti's Hall, Larry vs. Aliens and Masco Football. The laughs just kept coming.

THE FACULTY

OF MASCONOMET is around to put their foot down when we step out of line. The majority of their footprints are spanned in front of the chalkboards where they explain such things as the Law of Cosines or the theme of Huckleberry Finn. These are the people who help break in our soles. Here they are: The Masconomet Faculty.

MR. CARLETTI

The Man, the Myth, the Legend.

Whether you know him from his American History class, the track or simply from poking your head in his door to get a tidbit of wisdom from his quote of the week, it's clear that Mr. Philip Carletti has been a valuable resource to Masconomet Regional High School since his arrival in 1967. For twenty-seven years he's seen and been a part of the growth and change at Masconomet. And now the time nears to bid this noteworthy teacher farewell and good luck. The students and faculty will, undoubtedly, miss his presence in these corridors.

In the classroom Mr. Carletti is demanding of discipline, punctuality, and high standards. This isn't exactly surprising considering who his teachers were. Before arriving at Masco he was an active duty U.S. Marine Corps officer and just recently retired from the reserves where he holds the rank of a colonel, hence the reason why some students and faculty alike prefer simply to call him "The Colonel." Mr. Carletti's many years of military training has been known to reveal itself in class occasionally, but the way he encourages students to work hard reveals itself consistently. The time and effort required to succeed in his history class is a reflection of this. Yet, alongside the mumbles and grumbles of hard work has been known to induce, many students have expressed gratitude towards the demanding nature of his class: feeling it provided an atmosphere for them to achieve standards higher than they thought they could. It cannot be disputed that students leave Mr. Carletti's class with a thorough understanding of our nation's history. As a matter of fact, Mr. Carletti's knowledge of history and his sharp mind have been an asset not only to students but to his fellow teachers as well. It is not an uncommon experience to hear of a teacher hurrying down the hall to room C-213 in search of that little historical fact that they just can't dig from the corners of their brain.

Don't be fooled by Mr. Carletti's serious disposition in his classroom, for it is complimented by good humour and sensitivity. Loyalty does not end with Masconomet, rather it stretches out to students, friends, and faculty alike. He has a genuine concern for those around him and as one faculty member commented, "He's always one of the first to offer a helping hand. And his concern goes beyond that moment, he always follows up the next day, and he wants to make sure everything is really okay." Reaching out to students in the classroom and on the athletic field as both a track and a football coach truly exemplify his involvement in Masco during his entire career here.

Whether one looks at his accomplishments within Masconomet's doors or outside of them (where he is retired active duty Marine, holds the rank of colonel, and has two successful sons) it can be observed that this man's life is an accomplishment in itself. So, Mr. Carletti ends his days here at Masconomet he will not be soon forgotten. On behalf of everyone who's had the opportunity to work alongside him, we wish Mr. Carletti the best of luck and express our many thanks for all he's contributed to the school.

Academic Teams

Perhaps one of Masco's less hyped-up but definitely high-powered aspects is its academic teams. Whether they are tackling world issues or complex math problems, the brain power of these students deserves high recognition.

The Future Problem Solvers take on questions regarding such matters as homelessness, overpopulation, and kids and violence. When faced with problems as complex and serious as these, it's clear that these F.P.S. members are continuously challenged. The team spends the first part of the year writing practice problems and preparing themselves for the second part of the year's big competitions. These competitions include a regional meet, the State Bowl at Harvard, and the International Bowl in Providence, RI. The team typically performs exceptionally at these meets and, under the guidance of Mr. Craig, they have attended the International Bowl for the past twelve consecutive years.

Under Mr. Hodson's wing, the Science Team participates in one meet a month, which includes three events. These events span all fields of science and members find themselves doing anything from examining fossils to building cookey contraptions. A big event for the team is the Olympiad, which includes 15 events. The team also competed in both a regional and state meet.

Yet another highly-charged academic team is none other than the Math Team. Led by Mr. Hussey, these Mathletes had an "okay year," as a team member describes it. It hasn't been easy for them; the team is young and seniorless. However, this simply adds to the challenge and hasn't stopped team members from thoroughly enjoying themselves. With two meets a month and weekly practices, the team is well prepared for most math problems which come flying in their direction.

Those interested in foreign affairs have the opportunity to be a part of Masco's Model United Nations Team. This large squad of future ambassadors participates in simulations of the actual procedures that take place within the United Nations. Assigned to committees, these students seek to find resolutions to the actual problems faced by the United Nations. Perhaps the most unique part of Model United Nations is that students have to represent countries of the world by seeing the issues as people of the countries who they represent would. This often means leaving Western ideas behind. The team competes all over the east and found themselves at St. John's, Harvard University, and New York City this year.

Community Service

With all Masco has to offer it may very well be an institution able to survive as a self contained community. However, most students here would never dream of keeping their talents, passions and desires cooped up behind Masco's walls. For this reason Masco students typically enjoy taking a more holistic approach to education and disperse themselves and their goodwill throughout the entire community.

Various programs offered at Maseonomet provide students with opportunities to be more community minded. It is important, however, to keep in mind that Masco merely serves as a starting point for these students, for their motivation and leadership takes them far beyond Masco's grounds, where they help the people and the environment around them.

One group which has been particularly active throughout the years is the Thomas Jefferson Forum. Due to its large number of participants, TJF is able to reach out to many different people on the Northshore by working at the Topsfield Recycling Center, helping disabled children learn to ride horses at Windrush Farm, tutoring and participating in the Big Brother and Big Sister program. TJF also makes visits to the Beverly Hospital and Haven from Hunger.

Another group of busy students making a difference is the Students for Environmental Action group. SEA is responsible for the white paper and lunch tray recycling programs here at Masco. The group also did a sweep of the Masco grounds this autumn, collecting all the litter they could get their hands on.

Yet another motivated group is the highly prestiged National Honor Society. This society is composed of students who excell academically and are also outstanding, community minded citizens.

Some of NHS's activities include the semi-annual blood drive, which is a huge help to the Red Cross. NHS members also help out at the Haven from Hunger serving meals to the homeless and tutoring Masco students after school and during study halls.

Peer Education is yet another student run group concerned with the serious problems facing the young people in our society today. Peer Ed tackles difficult problems such as domestic violence, drug abuse and HIV/AIDS, among other things. Through workshops, seminars, outings and programs they set up both inside and outside of school. Peer Ed. members have been able to reach out to many people while discovering much about themselves in the process.

It can be seen that Masco students refuse to recognize themselves merely as self-serving individuals. These compassionate attitudes have had significant impacts on the student body and the community.

Student Government

Being that Masconomet is set up for the benefit of its students, it should be no surprise that they play an active role in certain issues. The group of dedicated hard workers who devote much of their time to addressing the needs of students and the Masco establishment as a whole is none other than the Student Government. The Government here at Masco consists of the Student Council, the Student Advisory Board, and the class officers. Together, these various committees work together to create an environment which is profitable and comfortable to all students and faculty alike. Each and every Wednesday, this group of young leaders congregates in the junior high cafeteria to discuss pressing issues and make future plans.

The Student Government has had a particularly active year. Under the guidance of Ms. Comerford the Student Council put together another rip-roaring Homecoming celebration. The Council also continued to raise money with its periodical Candy Gram sales, which are always especially sweet for those with a special friend or admirer who wish to send a tidbit of love. Another significant and charitable event run by the Student Council this year was its fund-raiser for Butch, the janitor, who sadly passed away in the fall. The donations collected were given to his family, who expressed its many thanks for the school's kindness.

Perhaps the largest and most successful move made by the Student Council this year was the meeting that it scheduled with Dr. Dussault. This was a first-time opportunity for students to get a first-hand preview of budget cuts and class scheduling for the upcoming year. This proved to be a valuable opportunity for concerned students to directly interact with the superintendent and have their voices heard.

The Student Government continues to impact the school as a whole with its versatility and dedication to the Masconomet environment. There is no doubt that Masco will be in strong hands as this crew of multidimensional students stands tall and leads the way.

World Languages

"Bonjour" and "Bon Apetit" could be heard echoing out of Mr. Gregorchik's room as the French Club gathered for its first ever mousse off. For those with a sweet tooth that was the place to be as these ever so Francais chefs whipped up treats in an attempt to win the French Club member's highest honor, the Golden Mousse Trophy. This club knows how to dine and enjoys an occasional fondu party while chuckling at Madeline movies. The club also headed north of the border into the vast frontier of Canada where they could be seen touring Montreal's historic monuments and swishing down Alpine slopes.

French club meetings are not the only happening place to be however. Right next door is Vija Skudra's room where the German Club has been known to have some good times, too. The club has also experimented with many German cuisines, some of which get rave reviews while others leave some finicky taste buds frowning. Whether it be making plans for an Oktoberfest celebration, visiting art museums, or simply discovering more about Germany's culture, these students have become more than just experts in throat-clearing and German grammar.

This year's Russian Club was as busy as ever. Under the guidance of Russia native Mrs. Rasner these students attempted to keep up with the current changes in Russia while getting a feel for its past. The group travelled to Boston to view two of Chekov's best plays and even got to taste some authentic Russian cuisine after the show. These students gather once a month to do anything from listening to Aht Koot Java or reading Pushking and they find themselves discovering a lot more than a new alphabet. The club also participates in a Russian Olympiad each spring where medals are usually won by all of the students.

Hola! This year's Spanish Club has been especially active. They hosted the Spanish Exchange in the Fall and were able to spend nearly a month with their Spanish friends. As always this program was an extremely beneficial and enlightening experience for all who participated. The Spanish Club also enjoys learning Spanish songs and reading poetry at its meetings as well as keeping up with current events in Spain.

Performing Arts

Masconomet is fortunate to have such a large and melodious group of musicians to fill its air with pleasant tunes. The band programs provide students with opportunities to both perform and study many styles of music, ranging from symphonic to popular to marching and so on.

One will find these talented musicians performing at the annual Spring and Winter concerts as well as marching through the streets at the Topsfield Fair and Memorial Day Parades. The Jazz Band also can be found entertaining people at the Cabaret Dinner in February, which is always followed by an upbeat jazz concert. The Jazz Band also participates in several competitions throughout the year, including Districts, States, and the Berkeley Festival, where band members are critiqued individually by judges.

And of course, we cannot fail to mention the Pep Band. Where would we be without the Pep Band to get our spirits rising and hearts pumping at rallies and sporting events? Their high-energy performances always add life to football games and keep the fans cheering.

Whether it be on the drums, trombone, flute, or any other one of the numerous instruments, it's clear that these students' hard work and dedication keep Masco bopping.

Performing Arts

Theater has long been one of Masco's strongest departments. And anybody who's attended a production is sure to agree. From the Thespians to the behind the scenes workings of the Stage Crew to Mr. West's superb leadership, this group of theater workers manages to bedazzle the crowd each and every time the curtain is drawn.

Though the final productions tend to go smoothly, don't be fooled into believing that these students get on stage and make the magic happen. Rather, theater at Masco is highly involved. The crew gets into its work, they don't act out plays that they pretend to understand. For example, in preparation for the play Miracle Worker, which deals with being blind and deaf, the entire cast visited the Perkins School to gain a better knowledge of the subject. This school is the actual institution where Helen Keller studied. In addition to all this, much of the cast is already learned in sign language from their work on last year's production, Children of a Lesser God. Senior Thespian Annie Taylor attributes much of this outside involvement to Mr. West, who "really chooses plays that we can get involved in while exploring different aspects of society."

This year's productions included Once on this Island, which proved to be quite a challenging feat. The cast worked on this play during the summer to master the challenge of a one hundred percent musical with the biggest set ever created at Masco. The Miracle Worker is a must see for the Spring, while Mr. Smith's one act comedy aroused laughter at the first ever student-faculty talent show.

Whose beautiful voices are slipping under the auditorium's wide doors and dancing down the hallway? Why those voices are none other than those of Masco's Singers, Jazz Choir and Chorale members.

Led by Lynn Shane, these dedicated and talented students perk up the community's ears with their wonderful tunes. Each year the Singers welcome in the Holiday season with an array of seasonal carols at the Brown Bag Concert. This concert gives students the chance to get in the holiday spirit while munching on their lunches. The Chorale also travelled to Angelica's Restaurant in December to fill the hearts and ears of the Middleton Rotary Club with some good old Yuletide cheer.

This large group of singers, with a record breaking 85 members this year, will also participate in an interscholastic competition in which they are sure to fair wonderfully.

Business and Media

Students at Masconomet have the unique opportunity to be a part of the media and business process. These teens not only study journalism and business in class, but they also get practical experience in the subject which they are studying.

Mr. Deane's journalism class plays a particularly active role in the school's media. Each morning these students keep the entire student body in tune with Masco activities and special events on the Morning Update. The crew also has its own Chieftan Chronicle page in the Tri-Town Transcript.

Another of Masco's literary projects is the "The Refrigerator Papers." From poetry to free writes, students get to submit their works to the paper which is published periodically for the rest of Masco to read and reflect upon.

Another opportunity students have to take on the challenges of journalism is through 88.3 FM WBMT. WBMT gives students with many different musical tastes the chance to take over the air waves. Some students have their own specialty shows.

Also, just this Fall, Business Department Head Roger Lauzon planned and directed the installment of a Family Bank branch right inside Masco. The bank functions and operates like any other commercial bank except that the employees, Future Tellers of America, are Masco students. DECA, Masco's school store, also gives students the opportunity to work as cashiers and managers. The bank and store have provided excellent opportunities to Masco students who study business and banking at Masco.

German Exchange

*Munich, Germany: April 4-26, 1994
Masco, U.S.A.: May 20-June 11, 1994*

The German Exchange allowed Masco students to truly taste the rich German culture. Masco students were paired with a German high school student from the Adolf-Weber Gymnasium (high school) and for three weeks went to school, hung out and lived with their host student. While in Deutschland, the Masconometites took trips to Starnberger See, Augsburg, Berchtesgaden, the Bavarian "state house," Neuschwanstein and Dachau, among other sights.

While in the U.S., the Germans took in many of the area's famous historical sights, such as Plymouth Plantation and the town of Salem. The Germans also visited the area's malls and shopping centers. A "sehr gut" time was had by all!

French Exchange

Last April, fifteen of Masco's finest French speakers spent two weeks living with French families in Rennes, the capital of Brittany. These lucky travel buffs were accompanied by two chaperones, and also had a chance to stay in Paris for three days. They visited the Eiffel Tower, the Louvre, the Musee d'Orsay, the Arc de Triomphe, Versailles, and had fun riding the Paris Metro. In Rennes, Masco students were greeted by the mayor at a formal reception in the Hotel de Ville. Rennes was a beautiful city with many sights to be seen like the Garden of Thabor, the province's historical museum, the Palais du Parlement, and the Cathedral St. Pierre. Masco's sister French school, the Lycee Jean Mace, had also arranged several excursions to areas not far from Rennes. One day was spent at Mont St. Michel, an ancient monastery built on an island mountain looming up at the coast of Brittany's countryside. Other excursions were made to Carnac (the French equivalent of Stonehenge), Vannes, Futurescope (a cinematic amusement park), and the Gulf of Morbihan. Finally, none of Masco's French travel buffs will soon forget the all night, going away party that their French counterparts threw for them. This was definitely a voyage to remember.

ENGLAND

April 1994

Almost every year for quite some time, Mr. Doliber has taken a group of students to Great Britain during April Vacation. This year's group of sophomores, juniors and seniors embarked on a tour of southern England with Mr. Doliber acting as supreme leader and guide, while Mr. Gavron provided moral support and much revelry. Peter, the official tour guide, also provided much entertainment and was a group favorite. Much of the tour was done by bus. The group saw Westminster Abbey and Stonehenge among other significant historical sights. The group also journeyed through many small towns, observing the quaint, green countryside of southern England.

Most tours ended late afternoon, giving the students time to roam about on their own. This allowed the students to check out the happening English night life, among other aspects of the culture.

Other highlights of the trip include swimming (in) the English Channel and sheep-watching. The social and educational value of the trip cannot be argued as everybody had a good time while learning and expanding their minds.

Belize

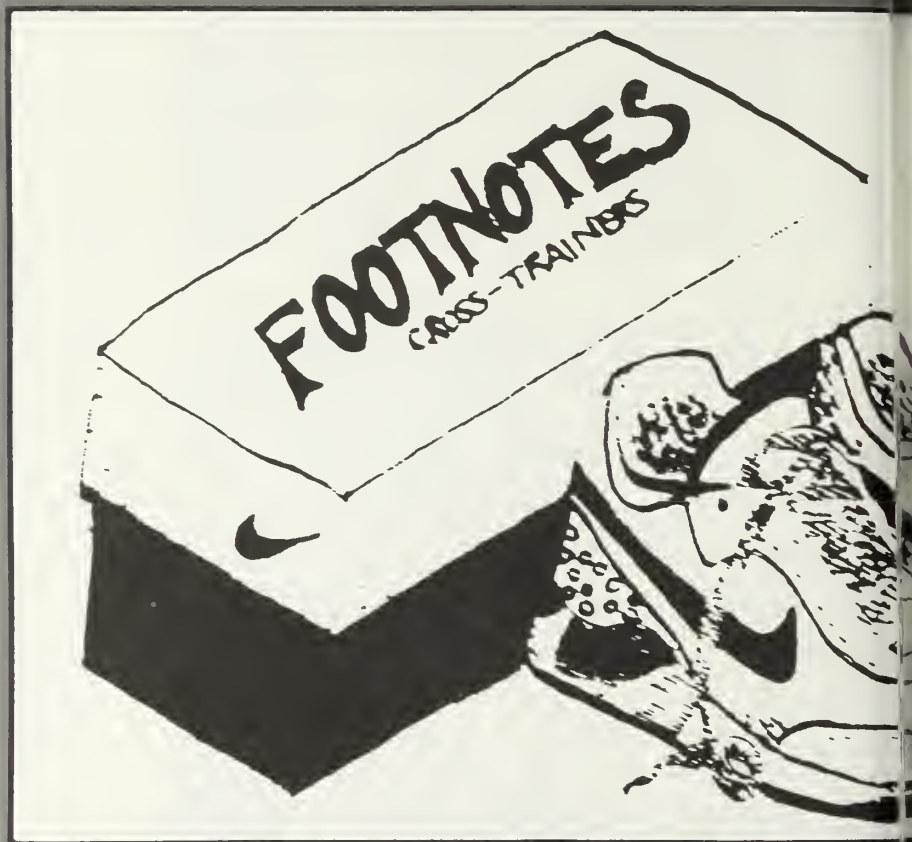

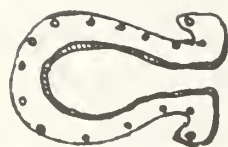

February 1995

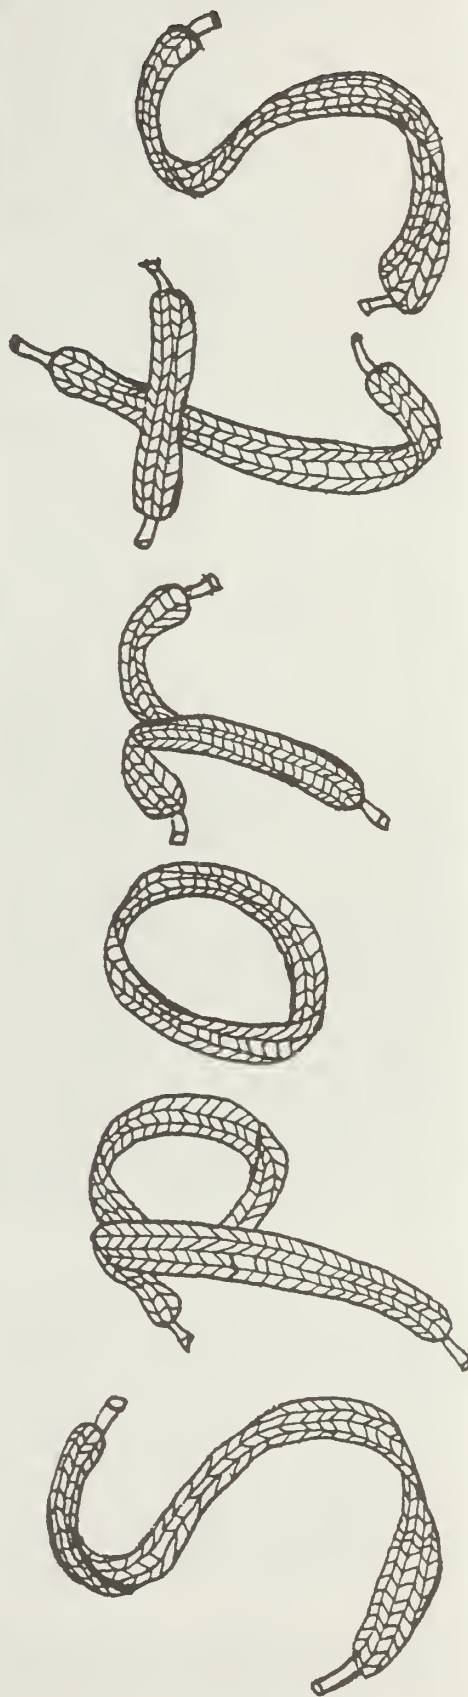

For one week seven seniors shed their bookbags and shoes for a week on a small island off the coast of Belize where the shoes were replaced by fins. Snorkeling, seeing manta rays, following a fish with a glow stick at night and evening Pictionary games were highlights of the trip.

Among the most interesting species of fish seen were baracudas, lizardfish, scorpionfish, flounders, needlefish and grunt fish. Among other species from the animal kingdom were the three beach dogs, Rusty, Scabby and Frisky.

Henry and Susan Winn were the group's mentors. They led the group on snorkeling and data collecting expeditions. Spicy food was served at every meal. It was a good time of fun in the sun for all.

GOLF

Though it may not be the most widely published or outspoken of the Fall sports teams, the Golf team certainly does contribute to the school's winning style. Once again this determined group of golfers travelled from tee to tee finishing up the season with a 10-6-2 record and fourth place overall in the Cape Ann League.

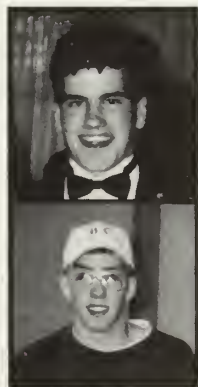

It was an exciting year with many close matches, one of the most exhilarating being the Chieftain's victory over Rockport and Hamilton-Wenham at their annual tri-match. Under the guidance of Coach Roger Lauzon and the leadership of dynamic Captain John McGowan, the team also made it as far as the state tournament. Next year's captain, Steve Smallman, optimistically declared the performance "A valiant effort! We're all winners whether we come in first or last. Anyway you slice it, golf's just plain great!" With all this enthusiasm as well as a power-packed lineup, next year's Golf team is certain to be well below par.

What makes golf great?"

John McGowan -
"I do."

Steve Smallman -
"Getting the little ball in the little cup."

BOYS SOCCER

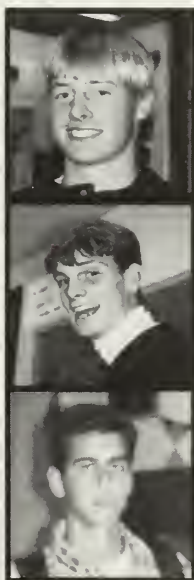

The Boys Soccer team once again proved that they are tough and can take the pressure of competition. Whether it was under the lights at North Andover on a chilly Fall evening or in the unseasonably warm weather of this Fall, the boys played the only way they know how, hard. The team finished up the season with a not too shabby 14 - 4 - 4 record.

This year's team brought together the young and the old as talent shone through from all grade levels. Coach Leonard Emmons pushes these guys to the limit, but as co-captain Matt Bryson says, "I love it, the more I sweat the better I feel!" With all this enthusiasm it's no surprise that the team worked their way to a big win against Bishop Fenwick in the first round of the state tournament and yet another impressive win against Winchester in the quarter finals before being booted out by Westbury. Co-captain Duncan Reece sums up the season as being strong, stating that "not being CAL champs was our downfall, but we made up for this in the state games, we kept the pride alive." Next year's team looks to have great potential as the whole squad is taken under the wings of Evan Reece, Mark Capone, Casey Bonus and Brian Sennott.

What was your most memorable moment this year?

Duncan Reece -
"When Tyson scored his goal against Winchester."

Dave Neskey -
"At North Andover because all the girls loved my butt."

Alan Maccarone -
"When Jon Kondracki was knocked over by a girl on the other team."

GIRLS SOCCER

They sort of travel as one big pack, and not only do they know how to be loud and dance in the back of the bus, but they also know how to win. Caitlin Whelton, Michelle Elias, and Alyssa Sadowski led the team with their encouragement off the field and supreme skills on the field this year as the tri-captain triplets. All Scholastic Kim-An Hernandez and Kate McArdle also demonstrated their talent helping the team achieve a 17-2-2 record as well as the CAL Championship. The team also boasts the Northern Mass. Championship in which they defeated North Andover in a breathtaking overtime win.

The girls had the new face of first year coach Paula Yanakakis with them on the field this year. And senior Kim-An Hernandez describes Paula as "bringing a lot of new energy to the team and giving everyone new and positive perspectives that we weren't expecting." The Chieftains winning style will be continued under the leadership of Kristen Costello, Liz Elias, Blaire Daly, and Stephanie McArdle next year. Best of luck, ladies!

GIRLS CROSS COUNTRY

"We're like one big family out there on the roads," says co-captain Kelly Carmody, "you know you're never alone when you're a bunny." Along with lots of pasta and laughs, the Masconomet Girls Cross Country team had an outstanding season. With an overall record of 8-1-0 in regular races, an impressive finish at the Northern Area meet, fifth place in the state meet, and thirteenth in All-States, it can easily be said that the bunnies held through right to the very end.

This year's team was chock full of young talent, with nine out of the top ten runners being underclassmen. These fresh faces really gave the team the boost it needed this year by working hard and never crumbling in the face of the all too well-known pre-race jitters. Without a doubt, next year's team will be power-packed. To guide these coo-coo bunnies over the many hills they will encounter next year are the boisterous foursome of Christine Archung, Erin Deveney, Jolen Hawxwell, and Shannon McCraine. Good luck bunnies. Keep the pride alive!

What's your favorite part about running cross-country?

Amy Sousa -
"It's one of the few times that I'm actually encouraged not to shave my legs and smell bad."

Erin Deveney -
"Smoking Mr. Casey's cigars when he had his back turned."

Jolen Hawxwell -
"I love running into mail-boxes and ripping my shorts on fences."

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

The Boys Cross Country team has always been known to have a bit of a wild side. This year's team was no exception; however, this same energy, which fuels pasta parties and pre-race rumbles, also explodes these runners up and over hills that many other people would only consider sledding down.

This year's squad was headed by co-captain/talented musician John Fulton and his all-star side kick, Josh Cotter. Together, this duo encouraged the team to achieve high standards and never look back. Junior Athan Diskes described the team atmosphere as being "Ballistic!"

These guys ran away with a record in the Cape Ann League. They also put up a valiant effort in the Northern Area meet, despite the fact that two of their top runners were plagued by illness. The State-Class meet was also a success, and Josh Cotter placed in the top twenty-five. Overall, this season was perhaps not as strong as past years, for the team was faced with various injuries and illnesses; however, everybody worked hard and stuck together through it all. Next year, Mark Steyer, Chris Laroe, and Athan Diskes will keep the spirit alive. Good luck guys!

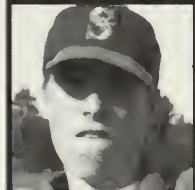

What do you think separates Boys Cross Country from other sports?

Chris White -
"The fact that we're real men, and that's the end of discussion."

John Fulton -
"The pasta party rumbles are like no other sport."

Josh Cotter -
"We get to wear tank tops so I can expose more of my incredible physique than I would be able to in any other sport."

FIELD HOCKEY

Between rhymes and line dances, the Field Hockey team managed to finish the year up on a positive note. The team plunged into the season with an unexpected win over CAL powerhouse Triton. This exciting game demonstrated the team's supreme ability to work together when the odds were against them. The team went on to earn a 5-10-3 record for the season on the field, but they also know how to enjoy themselves off the field. The team bonded together like a family this year. Even Ms. Finnigan contributed to the laughs! "We were all really good friends this year," commented co-captain Leigh Olmsted. "Not only did this make for more fun, but it also enabled us to play better." This winning spirit carried the team's victories right off the field and into the Masco cafeteria, where they had the most team members present at both the Tri-Town Pasta Party and the Pancake Breakfast.

The team will greatly miss this year's co-captains Angela Piecuch and Leigh Olmsted, but next year's team will surely continue to shine as Robin Holmgren, Christina Costanza, and Kelly McGarry lead the pack. Best of luck ladies!

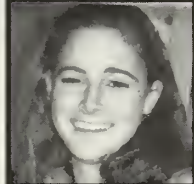

How does team closeness help your performance?

Leigh Olmsted -
"By doing the hustle before every game."

VOLLEYBALL

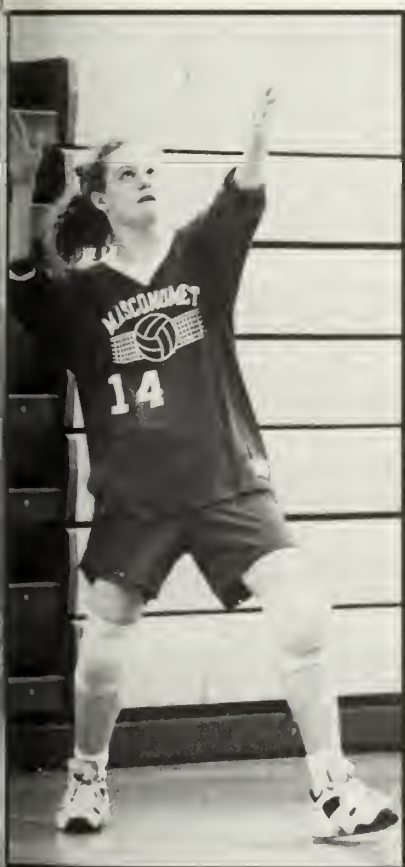

The Masco Volleyball team demonstrated their hard work and sharpened skill this season by emerging as the North Shore League champs and advancing into the semi-finals in States. Behind much of the team's success were co-captains Maureen Mortalo and Ann Marie Flynn, who both showed much talent on the court. Perhaps the most exciting game for the girls was their fantastic win over North Reading, which allowed them to grasp the NSL Championship. Talented and enthusiastic senior Athena Mandragorous sums the season up in three simple words, "It was great!"

Though the team will be bidding farewell to many seniors, prospects continue to look good for next year. Led by co-captains Emily Eagan and Danielle Cuilla the girls should once again light up the gymnasiums of schools all over the North Shore!

What was the highlight of your season?

FOOTBALL

All the sweaty and, as the locker room reveals, smelly hours of practice certainly was worthwhile for the Mighty Chieftains this year as they had quite a strong season. Led by co-captains Brian Coffin and Ryan Connelly the team ran themselves into the ground even in the most adverse conditions. The team won six of their nine Cape Ann League games, as well as crushing Bishop Fenwick 28 - 0 in an embarrassingly large victory on Opening Day. With the help of All-Leaguers Brian Coffin and Brian Noel the team was well fueled.

"Next year's squad looks to be real strong, we only had seven seniors this year and the younger kids really pulled through," comments senior Chris Richardson. And who will carry this win-hungry herd of guys to victory next year? None other than the tri-captain trio of Mark Baldassarri, Matt Corning and Brian Noel.

What motivates you to practice all those long hot hours?

CHEERLEADING

Whether they are on the sidelines of the football field, basketball court, or hockey rink, the Masconomet Cheerleaders keep the spirit alive with their creative, high energy cheers. These ladies cheer through thick and thin and their loud shouts and high jumps can be seen and heard by all players and fans alike.

When the cheerleaders get on the field their routines are nearly always flawless. However, don't be fooled by their ease, for these dedicated young ladies work many long, hard hours to make it all come together so nicely and to get every last step, toss and syllable shouted to perfection.

The Football, Hockey and Basketball squads compete in cheering competitions each year. They spend many weeks polishing and perfecting a routine which is judged upon several criteria including dance, music and the infamous basket toss. The ladies exerted valiant efforts in both of this year's competitions, finishing sixth in the fall and finishing eighth in the winter.

It cannot be argued that the hard work and dedication of Masco's cheerleaders add zest to sporting events that would otherwise lack vital seeds of enthusiasm.

How do you keep your cool when cheering in front of throngs of wild spectators?

Missy Hale-
"By just doing our job."

Laura Vitale-
"I picture everyone naked."

Jenn Swartz-

BOYS BASKETBALL

The Boys Basketball team had yet another eventful year. To start with, there was a new man on the court. Mr. Pugh handed the reins over to Bud O'Neil, a man who, as senior Justin Theriault describes, "Knows the game, this guy is good beans!"

The season started off slowly this year and the team was defeated by North Andover and North Reading. As the winter progressed, however, the team bounced into full swing and things started to pick up. Under the wings of co-captains John Fulton and Chris Richardson the team had a two game winning streak over Newburyport and Triton, then went on to place third in the Stoneham Tournament. The team also found their way to the State Playoffs where they were greeted with lots of good cheer.

The forecast is bright for the next year, as the team is sure to be loaded with much youth and enthusiasm.

Which game were you the most nervous for and why?

Sean Mulkerron -
"I was never nervous because I'm the best."

Derek Carosi -
"North Andover because we hadn't beaten them in a while."

Brian Theodore -
"North Andover, due to the culmination of four years of effort."

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The Girls Basketball team has perfected the art of winning. Once again the team dribbled away with the Cape Ann League title, though there was a moment filled with temporary jitters when they faced up against North Andover. However, this was indeed just momentary and it wasn't long before their confidence grew along with their lead, and then the game was won by Masco's Queens of the Court. Outside the Cape Ann League the team challenged Haverhill. It was an exhausting game that resulted in a one point loss, but this was not a setback for the Chieftains, who bounced right back with their next game.

This year's crew of basketball stars was a close knit bunch led by co-captains Caitlin Whelton and Catey Peters. Whether they were loading up on pasta the night before a big game or bonding on the bus, their smiles were always gleaming and the team always seemed to be enjoying themselves. Under the direction of Coach Cleary next year's team should be equally as successful.

How does the team stay so successful year after year?

Athena Mandragouras-
"Teamunity."

Kim-An Hernandez-
"Because I'm on the team ...
good luck next year."

Caitlin Whelton-
"Everyone's willingness to make sacrifices for everyone else on the team."

HOCKEY

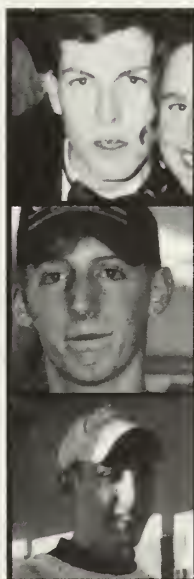

The Masco Hockey team had a particularly super season, ending up CAL co-champs and making it three rounds into the states. Led by captains Brian Coffin, Mike Zolla, Ben Canonica and Todd Feldman, the team was looking to improve their seed and they did just that. It's no wonder that these guys are good, for in addition to all their hard work on the ice, they're coached by Bob Driscoll. This year is Coach Driscoll's second to last, but whereas he has 25 years of coaching under his belt the break is well deserved.

Other highlights of the season include two big wins over Newburyport and an action packed, though uncomfortably close, game versus Triton. A big surprise for the team this year was freshman superstar Greg LeColst, who made his debut by playing a four goal game. Overall, this year's team was filled with much depth and with enough youth to keep the winning spirit alive for at least a couple of years. Good Luck next year Chieftains!

What is your favorite part of the game?

Brian Coffin-
"The physical aspect."

Michael Zolla-
"When you step on the ice and the Adrenalin begins to flow."

Peter Mahoney-
"Checking Zolla into the boards and watching him
cry."

BOYS SKIING

The Boys Ski team sure did let the Northshore Ski League know who the Kings of the Mountain were as they swished away wearing the championship crown. The year's closest meets were against Andover and St. John's Prep. However, these guys were up for the challenge and performed superbly under the pressure. Other especially impressive wins were over Austin Prep and North Andover, not to mention the team's top finish at the Interscholastic Races.

Led by co-captains Dave Neskey and Will Carey, the team was not only fueled by supreme skill, but also by much enthusiasm and spirit. The guys also had a rather wild time at Berkshire East, where they competed their best in the State races, and had lots of fun mingling with other skiers.

Though the team must bid good-bye to a couple of seniors, next year's team is sure to rule Bradford Hill once again.

Chris McLeavey -
"When I fell after the finish line and ended up in the lodge."

Kent Geisel -
"When I fell on my rear end heading out of the starting gate."

GIRLS SKIING

Once again Masco's Girls Ski team kept themselves busy swishing down snow covered slopes. Led by the expertise of co-captains Meghan Carey and Paige Washburn it is no surprise that these girls had a winning season. Despite this year's peculiar weather, the team did manage to find their way to Bradford Hill for what practices the snow supply would allow for. Other practices were sweated out right here on Masco grounds.

These ladies had a particularly strong year and ended the season by tying with Haverhill for the Northeast League Conference Championship. Other big races included those against North Andover and Andover. Under the supervision of the notorious Coach Worth, the ladies travelled to Berkshire East for the State races. There the girls merged with the boys team and had great times on the slopes as well as in the ski lodge.

What was your biggest wipe out on the slopes?

Laura Paulin -
"Wipe out? Me? I never mess up!"

Meghan Carey -
"When I chopped up my face on a gate."

Amy Divenuti -
"I never had any."

SWIMMING

The waters were a little rough for Masco's Swim team this year. Captain John Newland noted that "a lot of people quit the team and we didn't receive the support we needed, but we're all wicked awesome anyway, especially Coach Lisa Armstrong." Despite some minor setbacks these swimmers will always shine as pillars of dedication. What other team hits the water at 5:15 a.m., not once, not twice, but three times per week!? They all deserve a gold medal for that feat in itself.

The season did have strong points nevertheless, including two wins against North Reading and a second place in the league meet. Many team members also went on to compete in the state meets.

While John guided the swimmers, Lenny Gonzales and Amber Tagg co-captained the divers. Whether this team was diving off boards or propelling full speed through the pool they always enjoy themselves no matter how early the clock strikes or how cold the water is.

Do you have any secret techniques that help you get up at 4:00 a.m.?

Abbey Pierce -
"I have a big machine that bumps me on the head and drags me by my toes."

Michelle Peake -
"Many, many alarm clocks."

John Newland -
"I've been swimming for 22 years and 51 days, I'm used to it."

BOYS INDOOR TRACK

Up and down the halls they go, dodging icicles and wind by turning Masco's corridors into a track. All the team's training was exhibited when the team competed at Lynn Tech as part of the Greater Lynn League.

Under the guidance of the dignified Coach Carletti hard work is always demanded of these young men. However, this season was plagued by injury and illness, which accounted for some narrow defeats, namely Ipswich and Lawrence. Perhaps the most exciting of the team's meets was their tie with North Andover. "It was an impressive effort by both teams, but North Andover managed to tie up the score with a victory in the relay," commented senior Glen Landry.

The Chieftains did beat North Reading and Lynnfield however, and by embarrassingly large margins. The team also had many of its members compete in the State Meet at Harvard, including senior Captain and sprinter Jim Miller.

With all the youth that this year's team was stocked with, next year should be big!

GIRLS INDOOR TRACK

Once again the Lady Chieftains had a stupendous season. Each year the enthusiasm seems to grow as do the number of runners and jumpers and throwers. This year the team consisted of a record breaking 75 girls. They are a lively bunch and so it was no surprise when Senor Cavallaro decided to share the joys of coaching with the determined Bob Serino. It didn't take long for the distance team to learn that this new guy knew how to run and there would be no slacking with him in the house!

The team ran away with thier third consecutive CAL title as well as a close second in the Merrimac Valley Conference. This year was definitely an eventful one for these ladies who found themselves trapped in a snowstorm with a clown convention and lots of gold medals from winning the Class C State Relay Races.

This year's team was led by four captains: shot putter Ann-Marie Flynn, hurdler Leigh Olmsted and distance runners Angela Piecuch and Amy Sousa.

Next year's team is sure to be a powerhouse. Best of Luck ladies!

WRESTLING

The Masco Wrestling team had yet another strong season, keeping the pride alive. Coach Puleo never fails to make practices long and exhausting, and this serves to further motivate a team which just keeps working harder and performing at higher levels of greatness.

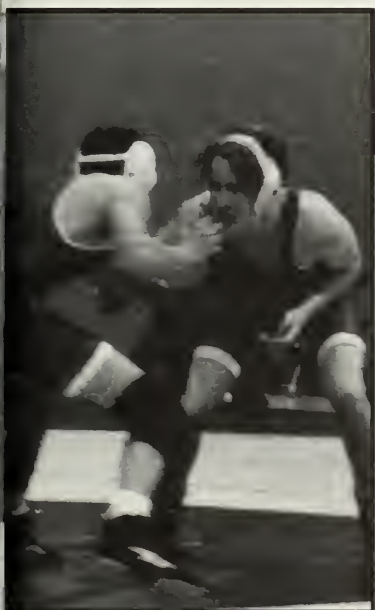

The most exciting match of the season was a victory over Hamilton-Wenham, a powerhouse in the Cape Ann League, but evidently not powerful enough to defeat the Chieftains. The team shares the 1994-95 CAL crown with archrival North Andover. The team also boasts three individual CAL champs, who also happen to be the team's captains, twins Jeremy and John Perotti, and Chris Knowles. Other big tournaments of the year were the Wilmington, Lowell and Haverhill Invitationals. Everybody exerted valiant efforts at these competitions and the Perotti twins once again emerged as champions.

This year's team was relatively young and complete with a large number of juniors. Therefore, though it will be hard to bid farewell to the seniors, the Masco wrestlers will undoubtedly remain on their toes next year.

What serves to motivate you?

Chris Knowles -
"The desire to win - and I do!"

John Perotti -
"My genuine love for the sport."

Jeremy Perotti -
"The commitment to perform my best everytime I get on the mat."

MITOBO '95

The time, effort and energy put into producing the annual MITOBO yearbook often goes unnoticed and unappreciated. The artistic, literary and administrative talents necessary to even have the book are immeasurable. This year was no exception. The extra hours committed in order to make this book original, interesting and pleasing to the reader cannot be counted. This book is the culmination of hours of brain-draining pencil-pushing work. This year's staff was exceptionally creative and diligent.

In only a few short years the content of the yearbook has changed dramatically. Just when it seemed like anybody could get away with anything these days, this year's staff was confronted with tighter-than-ever restrictions on what could be said, who could say it and how they could say it. The restrictions are no longer merely social restrictions, they are now legal restrictions.

One, however, should not allow that to get in the way of letting the yearbook achieve its purpose. The yearbook is a time capsule. It will become funnier and more interesting as time passes.

So here it is Class of 1995, Footnotes, this is your book and yours to do with whatever you want. Write messages to your buddies, say hello to long lost friends or good-bye to old sweethearts. Remember to watch your step.

Tying Up all The Loose Ends

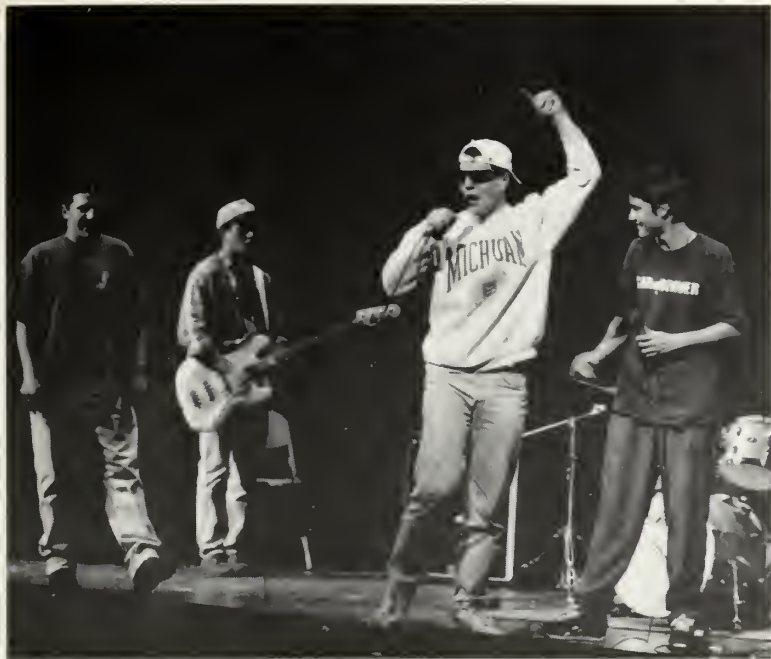

The following are personal advertisements which did not make it into the yearbook. Thanks to these and all other friends and families of the Class of 1995 who, through their contributions to the Class, helped make the yearbook possible.

Leah, Déjà View! Excuse me! Telephone, twins, cut it out GB, fine! Can I have this? Love M+A

Congratulations Sebago sisters—Colleen, Christine, Leah. Luv You! Best of Luck Always, Mom + Ray

Chaunce—Shawnee—Embrace life's challenges & life's wonders will unfold for you. OXO Mom & Dad

Congratulations Missy & Brian! Best of luck in college. Love, John & Kelly
